Artist Statement

The harmonious yet conflicting visual stimuli of the North Central Pennsylvania region are the catalyst for my work. I collect imagery that considers the multiple truths/realities of the region that tell the story of the contemporary American experience. This pluralistic approach transforms and transfers ideas, imagery, processes, and mediums that connect and disconnect my thoughts within our time and place. My imagery evolves from the increasing connectivity and confusion of blending the past and present using intuitive and formal art-making decisions.
