Why I Chose Samarah Bani

Samarah has been a student of mine for several years. She has demonstrated creativity and the ability to go above and beyond expectations on her projects in class. Although she was only in Ceramics I this year, she created this beautiful coil torso for our coil pot assignment. When given the invitation to this exhibition her name was the first that came to mind.

Artist Statement

The piece I have created is a coil torso of the ocean. It has cracks running throughout the piece to demonstrate that all the beauty on the surface is not what it seems, and the fragile ecosystem is threatened. Inside is a stark contrast of death brought about by the trash that shares the space.
