Why I Chose Misty Lee Harer and Andrea Tumminello

Selecting students for contests, exhibitions, and shows is always a difficult task. As an art teacher, I look for many qualities in both the student's work and the students themselves. In the work, I look not only for the quality of the finished product, but also for time management, growth in technique, use of tools and materials, and creative direction. In the student I look for dedication to the task, ability to overcome challenges, creative problem solving, and a sense of purpose or direction. I have chosen Misty Lee Harer and Andrea Tumminello for the 2022 Master and Grasshopper Exhibition because I believe they demonstrate those qualities, and their artwork exemplifies their dedication and commitment.

Artist Statement

My current ceramic work is an exploration of function and tactile response. I love that ceramics can be both aesthetically interesting and also fulfill a purpose. I am also interested in how others will interact with my work through contact. To that end, I make works that provide a specific function, while incorporating textures and surface treatments that will be pleasing/interesting to the touch and provide a memorable and thoughtful experience.
