Commentary on Learning with Ms. Rosario

I have benefitted a lot from my art classes. I've always loved art since I was little. Being in this specific art class with my art teacher is the best. I've learned so much from her lessons. All the way from shapes and shading to get out of your comfort zone. It's hard for me to get out of my comfort zone with art. She's showed me how to make beautiful pieces with different media and different techniques.

Artist Statement

All my art has hidden meanings. The redwood forest piece is because I love redwood forests. They have a deep mystical meaning behind them. They almost seem magical. The art piece of the redwood forest is brightly colored because I have tetrachromacy (which means I see more colors than the average human) and wanted to show what I see.
