Artist Statement

I really enjoyed making this piece as it taught me quite a few very important lessons. One of these lessons was to be persistent. This piece took me 3 tries to throw on the wheel and each time I had learned from my prior mistakes. It also taught me to believe in myself as I tried multiple new glazes and fluxes that I had never seen or even fired before. I made this piece to push my limits as an artist and make myself grow as a person. My inspiration was exploring and conquering the unknown because I had never created a lidded jar before.
