Artist Statement

Being in photo & digital media I've had the opportunity to learn about photographic elements and gain a richer experience when watching a film, being able to appreciate the different kinds of elements and shot types that I've learned about in this class. In this class, I have also learned about the elements of graphic design and have seen benefits from that in various ways. In this class, I have learned about many artistic elements, but I've also had a chance to enrich my knowledge of film history.

This picture was taken in the comfort of my own bed. My photo process is often quite simple finding a photo subject and taking multiple photographs of the subject, though this photo was the only one I took in the moment. I feel that this photo captures a feeling of loneliness. It captures the feeling of being on your own desolate island floating along in the late-night train of thought.
