Artist Statement

Unfortunately, my schedule has not allowed for many art classes throughout high school. Thanks to Mr. Jones though, I was able to skip 'Drawing and Painting 1' and go straight to taking 'Drawing and Painting 2' as an independent study. Now this year, my senior year, I was able to skip to AP Art, and I have learned so much. Mr. Jones has taught me about underpaintings, color theory, how to use a grid, how to make ellipses correctly, and much more. Above all, being in an actual art class has helped me have the motivation to create more often. Practice makes better, and Mr. Jones has made sure I never stop practicing.

This specific piece was painted in acrylic, on a white, stretched canvas. Titled, "Those Tempting Eyes," this piece is about sexual assault, and how it's something the majority of women experience in their lifetime.
